WE WON'T BE BEATEN ON PRICE!

Effective February 2018

Weber's offering of high-performance, thermal-transfer labels is the answer to problem free labelling. Our general purpose labels satisfy numerous industrial applications, especially if you're labelling drums, packaging film, plastic, glass or metal. Weber also supplies compatible thermal-transfer ribbons for reliable, cost-effective printing.

Take a look at our stock labels featured here. If you don't see the size you require, don't worry - just email or call us with your requirements and we'll have a member of our sales team help you find a solution.

Our stock vellum labels are ideal for automotive bar coding, inventory control, work-in-progress and lowertemperature applications. The material combines a matte-coated, ultra-smooth paper facesheet with a permanent acrylic adhesive.

Thermal Transfer Ribbons Choosing the correct one:

Weber's long experience with thermal-transfer print technologies and compatible label materials has given us a broad understanding of exactly which ribbon is best suited to your particular application. Our thermal-transfer ribbons operate with a wide variety of label printers and printer-applicators from today's leading manufacturers. Each ribbon is formulated to print high-density barcodes, text and graphics for product identification, work-in-progress, inventory control, shipping and other applications.

Easymark

Easymark is a premium wax grade, resin enhanced especially for maximum print performance. High carbon content guarantees a crisp, sharp black image - so crucial for the printing of graphics, text and barcodes. Manufactured with a hot melt or solvent based process, Wax ribbons will print at higher speeds and lower temperatures than wax resin or resin ribbons. Our wax thermal ribbons have been developed to provide maximum performance upon a broad range of coated and plain paper. Image density, edge definition and a low energy release combine to deliver a rock-solid solution for today's markets.

Duraprint

Duraprint grade of thermal ribbon is designed to work with flat head technology printers, providing perfect printer performance. Wax resin is a high-end solution, particularly suited to the high volume segment of labelling, providing versatility over a broad range of both film media and paper. Coated with a combination of wax and resin ink formulations, Wax Resin thermal ribbons offer more print durability than wax ribbons. Scratch and abrasion resistance is also superior to that of wax ribbons but inferior to full resin ribbons. Outstanding image density, edge definition and a low energy release deliver a solid, single source solution for today's markets

Ultraplate

Ultraplate ribbons are UL approved resin ribbon crafted to work with flat head thermal transfer printers operating in industrial conditions. Resin is another premium solution best suited where high durability is of paramount importance, offering exceptional versatility over an enormous range of synthetic and paper media. Manufactured with a pure resin coating, Resin ribbons have the highest degree of scratch and abrasion resistance and can withstand heat and most chemicals. Printing must be carried out at lower speeds and higher temperatures and the aterials. Outstanding image density, edge definition and a low energy release delivers a solid solution for today's markets.

Please note: Where stronger, more abrasive chemicals are being used please ask about our extreme resin ribbons.

Colour Ribbons

Weber offers an array of colours in wax, wax/resin, and resin formulations for standard and near-edge printers. You can employ colour to improve the appearance of your packaging, streamline your operation with colour-coding, and aid in keeping your pre-printed label inventory to a minimum.

*Bar code scannability must be tested when using colour ribbons.

PRE-PRINTED LABELS

The quality of your labels say a great deal about the product and the company it identifies. We use state-of-the-art flexographic and digital presses to manufacture high-quality pressure-sensitive labels and RFID labels for thousands of companies. We also supply compatible thermal-transfer ribbons to maximize the print quality of your labels.

Thermalwipe

CLEANS ALL YOUR THERMAL PRINTERS & BARCODE READERS

Weber

DIRECTIONS

Keep Thermal Printheads Clean!

In bar code printers, the main cause of premature printhead failure is a buildup of adhesive, label residue and other contaminants

DIRECTIONS:

This creates a baked-on coating that heat produced by the printhead cannot penetrate. The trapped heat burns out the dots. With bar code thermal printers, failure of only two dots can render the printhead useless.

End user maintenance has a direct and dramatic effect on the productive life of a printhead. According to a leading thermal printer manufacturer, a maintenance program can decrease printhead failures by 80%. In addition to guarding against dot failure, cleaning printheads on a regular basis helps prevent or eliminate repetitive voids in bar code images.

Cleaning should be convenient for operators and scheduled at consistent intervals (for example, when you change label or ticket stock). Weber provides three presaturated products to clean thermal printheads.

The Thermalcard, Thermalpen and Thermalwipe. The concept behind presaturated cleaning supplies is simple: the easier it is for operators to clean printheads, the more likely it is they will do it regularly.
